Happy New Year

Council Acts To Sell Or Level Home

The Placentia City Council, in an unprecedented move, unanimously voted Tuesday night to dispose of the home of the founder of the city of Placentia which had been given to the people of the city as a gift.

The entire nonagenda transaction took one minute and 53 seconds.

The action, ironic in a Bicentennial year, was explained later by some members of the council as their response to public opinion.

"I've had so much correspondence, phone calls, feed back from my wife, virtually 100 per cent in tone as Mr. (Robert) Whitmore's here," Mayor Fro Tem William Rashford indicated to Whitmore, who is a local attorney.

Mayor George De Jesus and Councilman Donald Holt reported the same circumstance. Letters, phone calls and personal contacts, all negative in composition in maintaining the Heritage Bradford Home.

The move, unexpected at the end of a short city council meeting, had not even appeared as an item on the prepared agenda. No member of the public or press apparently had been given prior notice.

The mayor brought up the item for discussion: "Two meetings ago I made a recommendation on the matter of the Bradford House with reference to spending monies from the park funds for the purpose of the restoration of the house.

"We have since been advised by legal counsel that we cannot use these monies. I am afraid that we have reached a time when we have exhausted all effort in trying to preserve this house.

"It would be my recommendation and I make it in the form of a motion that we direct the staff to advertise for the removal of the house and-or the demolition and removal from the property. That we go to bid. That we have bids within 30 days. At that time the bids will be opened by the council and the award will be made."

"We have received some interest from individuals who would like to save the home and remove it from the property. We will entertain their

Happy Bicentennial! Come To The Demolition!

BY BETTY MEAD

Tuesday night five city councilpeople in the City of Placentia—one a fifth generation Californian whose family adobe has been preserved in another apparently more history-conscious California city—voted to sell or tear down the Bradford House, the home of the founder of the City of Placentia.

They apparently made the assumption that anything that came that easy can go the same way.

There may be one problem with the Bradford House, a 6,000 square foot classic which the city's insurance company estimated in replacement value between $240,000 and $300,000. It didn't cost us anything.

However, we've certainly learned one lesson from it. Don't give this city a present. Especially not a valuable, expensive one. You're liable to get your heart broken.

The councilpeople we've talked to say that you have been deluging them with cries of "foul", "recall" and other expletives if they don't get rid of that house. We have no reason to doubt their word.

We did find it a little surprising, however, to learn that the people who have been writing all these letters and been making all the phone calls and personal contacts did not leak one word of it into any of the area's newspapers.

Our columns and those of other members of the press are always open to Letters to the Editor.

Since we're all about to be invited to a big house auction...or more likely a demolition, it seems to us that these councilpeople who have been so bombarded should know that there is another side to the coin.

And that is that not everybody agrees with what they did Tuesday night. This newspaper does not.

There are other matters to be considered. Of all the electors in this city, only five have voted to sell the Bradford House or destroy it. Nobody else, Just those five city councilpeople.

The measure on the April, 1976 ballot indicated a direction in STANDING PROUDLY since 1904 the vintage Bradford Home may have seen its last Christmas. Members of the city council voted unanimously to sell the structure or demolish it. The home was a gift to citizens of Placentia from Bradford heirs.

City Receives $1,238,223

The City of Placentia will receive $1,238,233. in federal grants to be used for two local projects.

The funds are part of a federal program which will unleash $41 millions into Orange County immediately in an effort to ease unemployment by funding public works projects.

Placentia received the monies requested for two projects. One is a $635,000 fund for additional improvements in the Atwood neighborhood. This section of the city has already been considered for other funding to provide streets, sewers, curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Betty Bradford Employee Of The Year'

Mrs. Betty Bradford, secretary to Placentia's city administrator and members of the city council, last week was chosen as city "Employee of the Year" by fellow workers.

The honor was bestowed on Mrs. Bradford, who has been affiliated with the city of Placentia for more than 12 years, by the employees at the annual Christmas Luncheon held in the Backs Community Building.

Mrs. Bradford has served as offlcial greeter for the city of Placentia during its period of unprecedented growth, it was pointed out. She is one of the city's longest term employees.

The honoree each year is awarded the George J. Koch Memorial Award for outstanding service.

POPULAR PERSONALITY, Mrs. Betty Bradford was honored by fellow city employees last week and named "Employee of the Year." The award is presented by Edwin T. Powell, city administrator, whom she serves as secretary along with members of the city council.

City Fire Service Apparently Gone

Placentia, at one time torn apart by labor problems in the fire house, apparently relinquished any hope of again having locally operated fire stations Tuesday night by signing up for Orange County fire service for another year.

The move, couched in economics, was not unexpected.

Apparently closing the chapter on a proud local fire history, the city agreed to a second year of county service Tuesday including the disposal of the remaining city owned fire equipment and two large fire trucks.

Such trucks, if bought new today, would cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 each, Orange County Fire Chief Carl Downs estimated Tuesday night.

The upcoming year's service with Orange County has already accelerated in cost, it was reported, with an agreement recently made between firefighters and the state of California reducing the work week from 84 to 72 hours with no reduction in pay. County fire service personnel are all California State Division of Forestry employees.

Also anticipated in the final 1977-78 fire contract figure is an additional raise for five personnel during the next fiscal year. Chief

Funds Denied For Airport Study

A federal grant application to do an airport master planning study for Orange County, Southern San Bernardino County and Western Riverside County including Chino Hills, has been denied by the Federal Aviation Administration, according to Supervisor Ralph A. Diedrich, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

Made by the Inter-County Airport Authority, the grant application was denied in a letter from Gerald M. Dallas, Chief, Airports District Office in Los Angeles, for several reasons.

The letter was sent to Frank Marshott, chairman of ICAA, an organization formed by a joint powers agreement between the cities of Chino, Garden Grove, Santa Ana and Stanton. John Lowman is executive director of the group.

Dallas said in his letter that the "Inter-County Airport Authority does not meet the requirements for sponsor eligibility contained in Federal Aviation regulations."

Supervisor Diedrich said the FAA explained more than a year ago that city members of the ICAA would have to commit themselves to enough money to actually build the airport before they would be considered an eligible sponsor for federal financing.

In addition, the letter from Dallas to Marshott, who is Mayor Pro Tem of Stanton, said in part, "The proposed study is not included in the current Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) overall work program nor is it specifically identified in their aviation system plan."

Diedrich said the letter also contains the statement, "The requirement for a new air carrier airport in the proposed study area is not recognized in the National Airport System plan. The work

Slurry Seal Project Snarls Traffic

A slurry seal snarl-up of vehicular traffic, bicyclists, pedestrians and unhappy local merchants brought the city's current street resurfacing project to an abrupt halt last week after protests began to reach City Hall and councilmen.

The street resurfacing efforts were credited with creating an endless tangle on the city's busiest streets and intersections as Christmas shoppers Wednesday found Yorba Linda Boulevard cut to one lane and in some instances access to major shopping centers blocked.

Councilman Donald Holt indicated that the wrath of the public over the timing of the work had set his telephone to ringing. Ben Minamide, the newly appointed Director of the Public Works Department said that his department had had several calls.

"About half of them were friendly," he recalled. "The other half...well..."

Thursday's slurry seal resurfacing schedule was to have blocked off the other half of Yorba Linda Boulevard, the city's busiest thoroughfare, from Rose Drive to the Fullerton city line, two days before Christmas. But it never happened.

Higher Densities Sought

The Placentia Planning Commission will be asked to look at a change in city law concerning building condominiums in the city at a higher density than 10 units an acre.

Arnold Hamala, Director of Development Services told the city council that there have been three or four requests to build condominiums in the city up to 12 or 15 units per acre.

The Placentia City Council voted unanimously to refer the problem to the planning commission for further study.

Among requests submitted is one from S and S (Shapell) for a 250 unit condominium to be built on 17 acres of R-3 (apartment) zoned property. The site is at the southwest corner of Chapman Avenue and Kraemer Boulevard.

The project density would be 15 units to an acre with each residence oriented to a water view.

List Of Candidates Growing In Number

A total of four candidates have filed nomination papers for the March 8 election in the Placentia Unified School District and two have declared intentions in the Placentia Library race.

All six are from Placentia.

Two seats are open on both boards.

Adding to the number of potential candidates, one additional Placentian has taken out papers for the school race, making a total of five in that category and three are holding papers for the library competition.

Newly entering the school board race this past week was William J. Cook, a mechanical engineer who works in the petroleum industry and has lived in the district for almost seven years.

His entry brings the total candidates to four including incumbent John Balducci, a project coordinator at Autonetics, who is seeking a second term and Guy Ehrich, a member of PUSD's Educational Facilities Planning Committee who has been a planning manager at Autonetics for 18 years.

Also political sciences student James Ellstrom, who is seeking his first office at 23, has filed.

Those holding nomination papers but not filing are James R. Jamieson, Anaheim, who made the race two years ago; Mrs. Barbara Williams, Fullerton, the chairman of PUSD's Educational Facilities Planning Committee; E. Blaine Schoolcraft, Placentia, who has 16 years in education and is now an investment consultant. He has lived in the district for 16 years.

John W. Prager, Jr., an attorney has taken out papers for both the school and library races but has not filed.

A new prospective school board candidate is Placentia resident Stanley Interrante, who is a deputy sheriff and works out of Santa Ana. Interrante, who has a teaching certificate at the junior college level, has lived in the district for 2½ months. He and Mrs. Interrante have one daughter who attends a private school in Orange.

New faces have entered the library race with Clairee (Mrs. John) Tynes filling out her nomination papers in one day and returning them for filing.

INJURED in this collision of automobile and power pole was Arnuffo I. Cabrera of Anaheim. The impact knocked the street light from its moorings. Cabrera, who reportedly received a gash on his head, was treated by paramedics and transported to Placentia-Linda Hospital for attention. The injured driver told police that he had two passengers in the car with him but that they fled quickly after the car hit the pole. The accident occurred in the early hours of Christmas morning at the intersection of Placentia and Orangethorpe Avenues. Cabrera reported that he lost control of the car, according to police reports.

Letters To The Editor

Governor Eyes Tax Relief

Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr. today released the following open letter:

Dear California Taxpayers:

Thank you for the letters on property taxes. I share your concern for the rising cost of government. I would answer you personally, but in view of the hundreds of thousands of letters you have sent me on the subject, the last thing I want to do is to spend another $40,000 of your money on postage. Instead, I have decided to express my thoughts in this open letter.

During the coming weeks, I will carefully evaluate the various property tax proposals now circulating in Sacramento. My principal concern is to insure prompt but honest property tax relief.

In my judgment, this will not come by raising sales and income taxes to reduce taxes on property. Such an approach merely changes the form but not the substance.

Real property tax reform must include the following four fundamental principles:

1) Legal restraints on local and state spending.

2) Removal of unreasonable state mandates which force excessive spending at the local level.

3) A split of the tax role by a constitutional amendment so that business pays its historical share of local property taxes.

4) Targeting state property tax relief to those homeowners hardest hit and most in need.

I would welcome and encourage any additional thoughts you might have.

Sincerely,
Edmund G. Brown Jr.
Governor of California

In Favor Of Death Penalty

Dear Editor:

The California Supreme Court last week invalidated this State's capital punishment law. It was their interpretation that California's law did not meet the guidelines established by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The fact that the voters of California bothered to go to the polls in 1972 and voted to restore the death penalty made little difference.

It is of even less consequence that several hundred people will be killed in 1977 without the slightest fear of a death sentence to deter the killers of committing this heinous criminal act.

In the unincorporated areas thus far this year we have experienced 14 homicides, or ten more over 1975. Significantly, the majority is characterized as being premeditated.

Countywide, cities have reported a total of 65 killings, or two more than last year. Between 60 to 70% are of the coldblooded, planned and calculated type.

These figures do not take into account the 140 deaths attributed to drug overdose. How many of these are self-induced or at the hands of another?

In recent weeks, we lost a police sergeant in the City of Cypress as he was shot to death while searching the offices of a suspected burglary. During the summer, a housewife was kidnapped and subsequently put to death.

How much longer and how many more deaths will our society tolerate before we can reinstitute the only logical deterrent to these senseless killings?

It is my judgment and, obviously, that of the overwhelming majority of the people in the State of California that the only deterrent to an act of homicide, under specific circumstances, is the death penalty.

Common sense, as well as facts, question who in their right mind would arm themselves and commit a crime, knowing full well that they are placing their own lives in jeopardy.

Nine years have passed since the State has had an execution. This moratorium of the death penalty has proven conclusively that there is a total disregard for law and order, in general, and homicide, in particular.

We do not advocate the death penalty in each and every case of homicide. Obviously, there are crimes of passion which will continue regardless of the penalty. The same holds true for a killing that occurs at the hands of a mentally deranged person.

All that any reasonable person can ask for is that the death penalty be applied where there is a killing for profit, killing of a jail guard or inmate, killing of a peace officer, or killings during the commission of a robbery, kidnapping, rape, lewd conduct with a child, or burglary. Is this really asking too much?

It is truly incredible that as a nation we have come so far, accomplished so much, become so learned, so sophisticated and so humane, that we still permit atrocities such as murder to be perpetuated and perpetrated on our neighbors, friends and family without having a deterrent that will reduce this kind of inhumane act.

I do not believe that our founding fathers ever intended to draft a constitution that would protect the murderers of this nation.

Sincerely,
Brad Gates
Sheriff-Coroner

City Fire Contract

Downs estimated this somewhere between no increase and a 7½ per cent.

Figures confirmed Tuesday night are for a year's contract between $759,329 and $813,743, an increase of $116,576 to $170,990 over the current annual rate of $642,753.

The figure provides both fire protection and paramedic service including a four-man engine company; a three man engine company; the paramedic unit and an aerial truck.

In a memo to city council by Frank Dunnavant, Director of Finance of the city, Dunnavant explains the cost of a locally operated fire system:

"In order to determine our costs if we were to revert to a city-operated fire department, we used the 1975-76 fiscal year budget as our base," he outlined.

"Our salary and benefit cost, after the salary increase granted in October, 1975, was $695,739, operating and supplies $46,396, capital outlay, $14,050, for a total cost of $756,185.

"After calculating salary increases granted to employees in October, 1976 and the proposed increase for October, 1977, our estimate of fire department costs for 1977-78 is in excess of $900,000 and does not include paramedic services, which could be as much as $100,000.

"Therefore it would be cost effective to continue fire and paramedic services with the county, even at the highest rate calculated. Not only is it cost effective, but the level of service provided by the county is double that which the city was able to provide. The city had two 3-man engine companies on duty around-the-clock; whereas the county has one 4-man engine company, one 3-man engine company and one 4-man aerial truck, with back-up from a two-man paramedic unit, which makes 13 men on duty around the clock.

"We have on loan to the county two fully equipped fire engines. The county has indicated a desire to purchase this equipment and we feel it would be in the best interests of the city to dispose of the fire engines.

"Prior to the sale, however, we would go outside to determine what the equipment would bring and then negotiate with the county on that basis. If the county could meet the price, we would then recommend sale to the county; however, if the county could not meet our price, we would than recommend sale to the highest bidder after reviewing the bids with the city council."

Chief Downs explained in answer to questions by Councilman Don Holt that the only way to cut the cost of the fire service would be to "contract with other areas (cities) rather than reduce the number of men (on an engine).

"I understood the council pretty much wanted to keep everything right here," Downs added.

A previous city council had discussed a year ago that disposing of the city's large fire equipment would virtually make it economically impossible for the city to again establish its own fire department.

Airport Study Denied

defined in the application (i.e., development of a study design) although an eligible element of the master planning process, is not considered an eligible project by itself," the letter reads.

"It is obvious to me that this proposed study is another attempt by ICAA to continue pursuing their dream of an airport in the Chino Hills. This attempt, like all the rest in the past, has failed. For many reasons, including topography, and impact on people, I do not believe an airport will ever be located in Chino Hills," Supervisor Diedrich said.

NEW PARK

The city council, city of Placentia has authorized purchase of a new park adjacent to the John O. Tynes Elementary School, east of City Hall. The park is 3.168 acres in size and will cost $65,900.

Alpha Center Supported By United Fund

The Alpha Center in Placentia has been accepted as a United Way member agency by the board of directors of United Way of Orange County North/South.

Alpha Center emphasizes four basic fields of service: counseling, drug programming, employment, and an educational alternative program.

United Way president, Joseph Peterson, stated that The Alpha Center was recommended for admission following a thorough investigation by volunteers serving on the Admissions Committee of the Agency Relations and Allocations Division.

Specific services provided by the agency include: the only 24-hour helpline in northeast Orange County; an outreach program for hard core drug addicts, as well as drug abuse education and prevention; and job recruitment and placement counseling for youth.

The alternative education program emphasizes recreation and education. Through it local youth can participate in mountain retreats, cultural field trips, and youth concerts.

Approximately 350 clients a month are served at The Alpha Center, with most participating in one of the counseling programs. Clients of all ages are seen, but the majority are in their middle and late teens.

Peterson added, "Based on our research, we believe The Alpha Center is providing crucially important human services in our community—the type of services United Way wants to support in Orange County.

He further explained that the agency will now have to go through the United Way Allocations Review Process to determine what its initial funding in 1977 will be.

This brings to 77 the number of voluntary agencies supported by United Way of Orange County North/South.

Traffic Slurry Sealed

Councilman Holt said that he had interceded with the Public Works Department to place a moratorium on the entire schedule until after the holidays.

Councilman Holt said also that he had called door to door on every merchant in the city's Town Center, Placentia's major shopping area, explaining that the inconvenience had been unintentional.

Traffic at one time was backed up on Yorba Linda Boulevard at the western border and into the city of Fullerton where three lanes of eastbound vehicles struggled to come down to one lane in front of the busy Town Center.

The traffic snarl was so heavy that cars at Bradford Avenue attempting to cross Yorba Linda Boulevard north and south were missing their light because the east-west traffic could not clear the intersection before the traffic signal changed back again to green.

Pedestrians and Christmas shopping youngsters on bicycles were crossing in the gooey substance at the major intersection of Yorba Linda Boulevard and Kraemer Boulevard. The goop reportedly sticks to everything including shoes and bare feet and pedestrians were seen wiping off their foot gear.

Minamide said that where damages had occurred because of cars driving over the still wet seal, repairs would be made before work concludes after the first of the year.

The final phase of the street work is scheduled for January 3 to 7, the Public Works Department outlined. Some streets are rescheduled from previous days and additional work will include seven city parksites, extending the plans into the next week. Damaged areas also will be reworked.

Schedules outlined most recently by the Public Works Department include: Monday, January 3, 1977; Heritage Avenue, Larkspur Drive, Islandia Drive, Borromeo Avenue, Lemke Drive, Kenoak Drive, Scotch Circle, Tartan Circle and Mathewson Avenue between Cartlen Drive and McCormack Lane.

Tuesday, January 4: Yorba Linda Boulevard, inside lanes from Bradford Avenue to Prospect Avenue.

Wednesday, January 5: Melody Lane, Walnut Street, Bradford Avenue, Livingston Avenue (Kraemer Boulevard to Clark) and Purdy Avenue between Kiolstad and Brookhaven Avenue.

Thursday, January 6: Palm Circle, east of Bradford Avenue.

Happy Bicentennial!

spending or not spending taxpayer funds to preserve and maintain the house as an historical monument. That was all.

Nothing was mentioned about its use as a park building. Or a school room. And there was no indication either way that the house should or should not be sold or laid on the ground.

That is scarcely a mandate.

We are asking the five city councilpeople of the City of Placentia these questions:

Why was a commission not appointed with official status to exhaustively explore the possibilities for uses of the $240,000 to $300,000 Bradford House?

This would cost the citizens of Placentia nothing. For some reason even the mayor's Blue Ribbon Bradford House Committee met with not one City Hall staff member in attendance although two councilpeople were members.

If this home was to be demolished, why was it not put on the ballot for the consideration of the voters in the upcoming March 8, 1977 election? It could have been included as late as 5 p.m. the Thursday before Christmas Day. It was not.

Why was the Bradford House brought up at the end of a city council meeting with no notification to the public or press and without even a mention on the meeting's agenda? Is this the usual way of disposing of $240,000 to $300,000 gifts?

Why was no effort made to use this house as a park building such as the one in Descanso Gardens in Los Angeles?

(Take a look at the taxpayer money spent to drag a small water wheel building--a gift-- through the streets of the city at night, relocate it in a park, landscape and provide a series of pools for its use.)

(Take a good look at the difference in usable space it provides.)

Why was not thought given or research conducted into declaring the house an educational center under the Civic Center agreement between the city and the schools? A sufficient number of people from both the district and parochial schools participated in the Blue Ribbon committee deliberations to indicate an interest.

And not everybody thinks playing soccer (although very beneficial) is the only important thing to do in the world.

Can you imagine a better place to teach Placentia or California history than in a room in the house of one of the city's founders? Ask any teacher how important that can be.

We're becoming increasingly embarrassed at the thought of living in a faceless city. One with no roots. No links to the past. No concern but for the moment.

We're embarrassed at the amount of taxes we are required to pay. At the judgment of a city council which feels compelled to phase out a $240,000 to $300,000 present. At the prospects of having to take the next generation of youngsters to some neighborhood town to view the relocated home of the founder of the city of Placentia!

Fullerton just spent $75,000 to rescue its Heritage Home from the middle of a street development and put the insides back into it. Unfortunately we got one handed to us in mint condition.

We could conceivably annex the whole thing to Fullerton. It's immediately adjacent. That way we wouldn't even have to take care of the trees in Bradford park. After all, water costs money too.

Anaheim has spent a like amount as Fullerton rescuing several of its heritage buildings. Brea has completed a project. So have the cities of Orange and Buena Park.

So what's wrong with us?

We know about the George Key House. That's important too. But it will not be a gift and it will be purchased, if it is, by Orange County. That's another chapter.

Looking it right in the mouth, The Placentia Courier feels that this city cannot afford to let a $240,000 to $300,000 gift house slip away. At least not on our budget.

We'd like to keep Placentia the pleasant place to live...not the peculiar one.

Whether you agree or disagree, Mayor George De Jesus can be reached at 528-3616; Mayor Pro Tem William Rashford at 528-0957; Councilwoman Virginia Farmer at 528-4051; Councilman Jack Gomez at 524-8563; and Councilman Donald Holt at 528-0530. The dial your Mayor number is 528-0722.

We're sure they will want to hear from you.

Federal Monies

The new money should guarantee funding for the complete project, it was reported earlier.

The second application is for $603,000 to continue the city's chain of median islands in major thoroughfares.

The median island project has brought criticism from some residents who have complained about a "forest of trees in the middle of the street."

Use of both grants is to begin in 90 days a stipulation in the federal funding to quickly stimulate the economy.

Yorba Linda School District received the largest single grant in the north Orange County area, a $2,767,000 fund for an administrative center, central kitchen and other accessories. In addition the City of Yorba Linda was granted $126,000 for the rejuvenation of the Main Street area.

Recycling Discouraged

Any effort at a program of recycling of old newspapers by the city of Placentia was strongly discouraged last Tuesday night by Raul Rangel, vice president of Jaycox Disposal Services, Anaheim, which services the city.

Rangel explained that old newspaper collecting by municipalities has been fraught with problems.

"All the information I have gathered over the past three years leads me to believe that all of these projects (recycling) are financial failures," Rangel told the Placentia City Council.

Rangel's oral report touched on the cities of Newport Beach, Fullerton, Downey and Palm Springs. He also explained that when bundles of papers were left on the curbs for pickup by designated personnel, scavengers frequently got there first and helped themselves.

Then, he added the city has to hire additional police officers to apprehend the scavengers.

"I don't believe a recycling program is really worth while," Rangel concluded.

Aircraft Banned on January 1

Aircraft pilots are required to avoid flying at low altitudes over the Pasadena Rose Parade, Rose Bowl, and adjacent crowded areas on January 1.

The restriction on this airspace by the Federal Aviation Administration in cooperation with the Pasadena Police Department and the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department is to minimize air traffic over the Parade and Rose Bowl Game during each activity.

In accordance with Part 91.91 of the Federal Aviation Regulations and in the interest of public safety, airplanes shall be flown above 5,000 feet (mean sea level) and helicopters shall remain above 1,900 feet (mean sea level) when traversing the area within a three-mile radius of the Rose Bowl or Rose Parade route.

Pilots in the vicinity should be especially alert for other air traffic and take extra precautions before maneuvering their aircraft. As in past years, the FAA and Pasadena Police Department and Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department helicopters will be patrolling the area throughout the day.

This restriction is the result of an air traffic safety problem created in past years by increased sightseeing and other non-essential aircraft in the area, according to Robert H. Stanton, Director of the FAA's Western Region.

"Aircraft thoughtlessly flown over the area create disturbances to spectators, most of whom travel great distances and wait many hours to view the spectacle," Stanton said.

Rose Parade Info

The 1977 Tournament of Roses parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, January 1, in Pasadena starting from the corner of Maylin St. and S. Orange Grove Blvd.

The 61 floats, 22 bands and 220 equesterians will move north on Orange Grove, turning east onto Colorado Blvd., at 8:35, if all goes according to plan.

At 9:56 the first units of the parade are scheduled to turn north onto Sierra Madre Blvd., arriving at the Victory Park post-parade area by 10:25. The floats will be displayed there from 1:30-5 p.m. on Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, according to the Auto Club.

Kickoff time for the Rose Bowl Game, the 63rd in the series of football classics, is 2 p.m. The coming game marks USC's 21st appearance in the Rose Bowl and Michigan's 11th.

Theme for the 88th annual Rose Parade is "The Good Life," aspects of which will be illustrated on all the floats. Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, two of the most respected and popular western entertainers, will serve as the Tournament's grand marshals.

Among the 23 cities entering floats in the 88th Rose Parade are four located outside California, including the Canadian city of Calgary. In addition, the Canadian provinces of Nova Scotia and Quebec and the country of Mexico will sponsor floats.

Of the scores of beauties riding atop floats, none will receive more attention than Diane Ramaker, the blond lass who reigns over the 88th Tournament.

The Rose Queen, a 20-year-old coed from Pasadena City College, and her six princesses will be seen early in the parade. Later, they will appear at the Rose Bowl Game, culminating nearly 100 public appearances during November and December.

Southern California Rapid Transit District will furnish bus service from 38 Los Angeles County communities to the parade area, as well as from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

If you're planning to drive to the Rose Parade, the club stresses that you should have a current map of Pasadena, plus a clear idea of your destination. You also should plan to arrive at least one hour before the parade is scheduled to start.

Those planning to attend the Rose Bowl Game also are advised to park near the entry part of the parade route (facing away from the Bowl) and to take their lunches with them.

HEARING A DIFFERENT DRUMMER—students at Golden Elementary School recently had the rare privilege of hearing the native beat from Pago Pago in American Samoa. The skilled drummer is Randy Morris, who in American Samoa is the assistant director of the Public Works Department. The third graders are Keith Pasternak and Wendy Poole. Morris is visiting here.

Samoan Visitor At School

An informative look at a different culture was afforded third grade students at Golden Elementary School in Placentia recently with a visit from Randy Morris.

Morris, a guest from Pago Pago in American Samoa, is the assistant director of the Public Works Department in his native country.

The visitor is a guest here of Pete and An Royere and the Yorba Linda County Water District where he will be studying the many facets of the district's operation. Mrs. Royere is the third grade teacher at Golden.

The third grade students were allowed an unusual look at many of the artifacts that Mrs. Royere had brought back from a recent trip to Western and American Samoa. Mr. and Mrs. Royere at that time were guests in the Morris home.

Morris, in Placentia, gave the third graders a little insight into the Samoan life, showing them how tapia cloth is made, teaching them a few words in the Samoan language, and demonstrating on a native drum for the absorbing students.

Park Authority To Discuss New Plans

The status of plans for the development of Tri-City Park will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Tri-City Park Authority at Brea City Hall on Wednesday, January 5. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Also on the meeting's agenda will be a discussion on the possibility of undergrounding the park's existing overhead utility lines.

The park, which will contain dual lakes when it is completed, is at the northwest corner of Placentia where the city joins Brea and Fullerton. The 40-acre enterprise is owned by the three cities and has had special dispensations from Orange County.

Development Postponed

Decision on a 171-unit residential development on 30 acres of Kraemer property south of Alta Vista Street and west of Kraemer Boulevard was postponed Tuesday night by the city council for consideration on January 4.

The development has been unanimously approved by the city's planning commission.

Involved on the periphery of the plans are two Kraemer homes, one owned by Edward H. Dunlap and the late Edna Kraemer Dunlap. Mrs. Dunlap died Wednesday.

Beside the 171 residential units, plans include a recreational area between the two Kraemer homes, tennis courts, park and swimming pool.

Developers are Woodbine Corporation (S and S Shapell) of Beverly Hills.

March of Dimes Kick Off

Key March of Dimes volunteers, and other persons interested in the purposes and goals of the March of Dimes, are invited to attend the annual program orientation meeting Wednesday, January 5, at the Sheraton-Anaheim Hotel, 1015 West Ball Rd., Anaheim, to "kick-off" the 1977 March of Dimes county-wide campaign and to discuss plans for the health agency's community service programs and annual fundraising drive. A no-host social hour will precede the 7:15 p.m. dinner.

"Volunteer help is most welcomed," said chairman G. Fred Kerns. "Those interested in learning more about the March of Dimes - its achievements to date, and its hopes for the future in the fight against birth defects, can make reservations for this orientation meeting by calling the March of Dimes office (714) 979-2270.

ADULT DISEASES

Many so-called "adult diseases" -- stroke, diabetes, heart and lung disorders -- may have their origins early in life as birth defects, according to the March of Dimes. The voluntary health organization sponsors research directed at prevention of birth defects.

Handicapped Recreation Program

Enrollment is still open in the Saturday recreation program for handicapped and learning disabled children ages 6-12 years at the Rehabilitation Institute of Orange County (R.I.O.), 1800 East La Veta Ave., Orange.

Parents interested in having their child participate, are asked to contact Mrs. Hazel Tobis, director of special education, or Susan Faires, intake coordinator at R.I.O., phone 633-7400.

Mrs. Tobis states, "Social and recreational needs of children with physical handicaps or learning disabilities are often neglected. There is a need for these children to learn to relate to their peers and adults, not only in an educational setting, but in a social and recreational one as well."

Supervised activities offered are arts and crafts, swimming, cooking, campouts, field trips, fishing, bowling, miniature golf, and roller skating. The program is held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Saturday.

Course in Parenting

The Orange County Chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring Parenting, a course for parents of young children, beginning Tuesday, January 4. Six weekly sessions will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Red Cross North County Service Center, 1207 N. Lemon in Fullerton.

The course is designed to help parents deal positively with the varied aspects of child rearing. Topics include physical development, discipline, safety and accident prevention, play and social development, feeding and physical care and early sexuality.

Instructors are Red Cross volunteers Jo Bostwick, registered nurse, and Joan LaMontagne, community educator.

To register call Nursing and Health Programs at 835-5381, extension 29. Material fee for the course is $3 per couple.

United Way Tally

A total of $599,779, an increase of 11% over the previous year, was recorded by Zone 6 in the 1976 United Way of Orange County North/South campaign.

Yorba Linda, Placentia, Brea, Fullerton, La Habra and Northeast Anaheim make up Zone 6.

The campaign has realized almost $2.4 million to date with an anticipated total of 3.7 million.

Pageant Musical Director

H. Fred Mickelson of Yorba Linda will be the new musical director and conductor for the Arabian Nights Pageant, the free nightly outdoor musical stage production being featured at the 1977 National Date Festival, February 18 through 27, at Indio.

This year's pageant production will be presented from a new script and music with nearly 100 singers, dancers and actors. Performances will be staged at 6:45 nightly and, again, at 8:20 p.m. on both Saturdays for overflow audiences.

Mickelson, a graduate of Pepperdine University, with a Bachelor of Science degree, has had wide experience for the past 25 years in the musical field and directing choral groups.

Since 1947, he has been music chairman for the Evangelical Free Church in Yorba Linda with responsibility for the full music program.

Some of his previous positions have been music chairman for the North Long Beach Brethern Church and, earlier, for the Bellflower Baptist Church.

From 1956-1962, he was student director in high school and college conducting choral groups and orchestra for musical presentations.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne, Owner - Reg. Pharmacist
LINDA VISTA PHARMACY

The discovery of penicillin was a strange, magical accident! A vagrant spore carried out of nowhere on air currents and settled on a plate of germ culture being studied by Alexander Fleming in 1928. The mold which resulted intrigued Fleming less than a strange halo which surrounded it. Study revealed that within this ring-like halo, all germlife was destroyed.

It wasn't until 1941 that others managed to produce enough penicillin to try on a human being. The amount was tragically small as far as the first patient was concerned (he died), but sufficient to disclose the astounding potential of the new drug.

The latest in drugs and medical supplies of all types are available in our complete prescription department. For all of your drug needs, rely on LINDA VISTA PHARMACY.

Briggs Backs Tax Relief

Senator John V. Briggs (R-35) a leading conservative Republican spokesman in the Legislature and often a critic of Governor Brown said: "Governor Brown is right in working towards property tax relief without an accompanying tax increase and Democratic leadership in both houses is wrong to oppose him on this issue.

"The Governor deserves solid support in this quest to reduce property taxes without increasing other taxes," Briggs stated. "The Democrats," he continued, "control the Legislature with an overwhelming and absolute majority in both houses. In addition they control the Governor's office.

"Therefore now is the time for them to make good on their promises of property tax relief without an accompanying tax increase, and if they do not, the people of California should hold them accountable."

"I will vigorously support property tax relief without an accompanying tax increase, and if the Governor is serious on this issue, I will do everything I can to help him achieve it," Briggs concluded.

Placentia Firm Expands

Ground breaking ceremonies took place in Placentia recently for a new 35,000 sq. ft. plant for Plasticolor, Inc., a local plastics manufacturing firm.

The new facility, to be constructed on a 1.6 acre parcel on Fee Ana Street in Placentia, will house all manufacturing and office facilities for the growing firm. Completion is scheduled for March, 1977.

The modern tilt-up building, designed by Tebault Engineering of Orange, will feature a glass and redwood front facade, customized offices and adequate manufacturing and storage facilities to house Plasticolor's expanding operation.

Plasticolor has been in business in Placentia since 1970 and currently employs 100 people. The firm is a major producer of specialized and novelty floor mats, mud guards and related items for the automotive industry, according to Gordon Bagne, President of Plasticolor. The volume of business has multiplied more then ten-fold since the company introduced its still popular "bug" floor mats for the Volkswagen seven years ago. A unique manufacturing technique permits an economical medium-volume run of a particular special item which enables Plasticolor to profitably produce mats customized for most popular brands and models of cars.

Stewart Construction Co. of Westminster is the General Contractor. Robert Morse of Tustin is the Developer. Financing is being handled through Lloyd's Bank and Dwyer-Curlett Co.

CONSTRUCTION IN ATWOOD - Plasticolor is building a new plant in Atwood. Joining Gordon Bagne and Robert Klinger in the traditional ground breaking ceremonies are Miss Placentia Deanna Musgrove, councilwoman Virginia Farmer, Placentia and Chamber of Commerce public relations director Joe Hyde.

Barbara Reed and Tryna Morton have organized the membership drive and expect to sponsor several fund raising projects in 1977, it was reported.

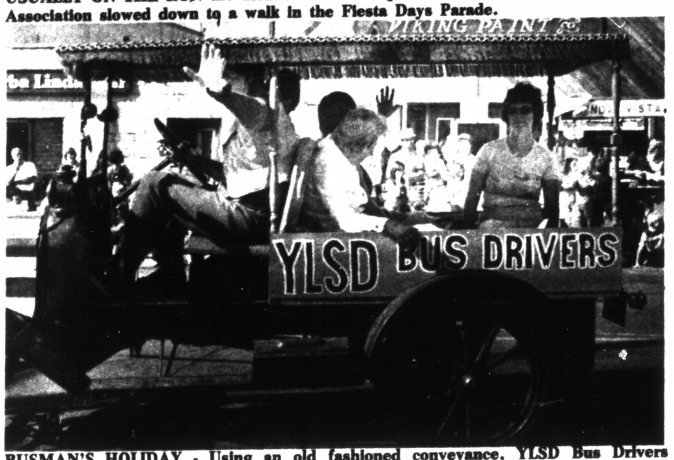
Look Back at Fiesta Days

USUALLY ON THE RUN the members of the Apaches of the Junior United Soccer Association slowed down to a walk in the Fiesta Days Parade.



BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY - Using an old fashioned conveyance, YLSD Bus Drivers participated in the Fiesta Days Parade as part of the Yorba Linda Homeowners Association entry.

COMMON SIGHT on Yorba Linda streets many years ago this old but well preserved stagecoach attracted much attention. Driver is Jack Myers of B&B Pharmacy with his grandchild in his lap.

DON'T THROW IT AWAY, whatever it is, implores sewing teacher Pat Barrios as she explains that many different cast-off items can be put to good use by sewing students. Here she assists Mary Aphessetche as she sews a seam.

KNOWING HOW TO SEW is a useful skill but space and supplies are very limited at the class at the Whitten Community Center. The sewing teacher urges everyone to contribute any left over materials, scraps, buttons, zippers, old patterns to her students. To make a contribution call Social Services at 993-8178 or the Whitten Community Center at 630-9948. Waiting a turn for a sewing machine are some of the 25 members of the sewing class at the center including Millie Cisneros, Pat Barrios [teacher], Elisa Sanchez, Zenida Perez, Lupe de Casas, Digna Arias and Isabella Arballo.

New Phone Officials

Pacific Telephone has restructured its north Orange County customer operations district, it was announced today.

General Manager John C. Buchart said the reorganization is along lines to fit company service objectives and "be in better turn with the times."

District Manager William G. Clay moves from Fullerton to company county headquarters in downtown Santa Ana, where he becomes District Staff Manager in the results analysis and support division.

In a geographical realignment, District Manager James L. Webb will assume customer operations responsibilities for residential customers in the north county area, including the Fullerton, Brea, Placentia and Buena Park exchanges. His headquarters remains in Garden Grove.

Story Hour Yule Party

The Yorba Linda library's Story-Hour children were entertained Friday, December 17th by the Metzger family. Sharon and Tim, with assistance from their mother, Ruth, presented a puppet show entitled "A Christmas Mystery or Who Took the Presents."

After a few anxious moments, Mr. Policeman aided by Sally, Doc and the audience recovered the presents and restored the happy holiday atmosphere.

The children adjourned to the activity room where trays of Christmas cookies awaited a final touch.

Icing flew thick and fast landing on friend and floor alike for the next few minutes, but plates of distinctive Christmas delights soon emerged which were then carefully transported home for each daddy to see and sample.

Mosquitos Love Pools

This is the time of year when hundreds of mosquitos find a home in Orange County swimming pools. When homeowners turn off the heater, filter, and chlorinator in the colder parts of the year, it is just a matter of weeks before the pool is a perfect habitat for mosquito production.

The Orange County Vector Control District (formerly Mosquito Abatement District) would like to remind pool owners that just running the filter system four hours a day will discourage mosquitoes from taking up residence in the family pool.

If mosquito "wigglers" already appear in the pool, a call to the District, at (714) 537-5891, will bring assistance within twenty-four hours.

Sewing Class Can Use Discards

Everybody wants to learn how to sew...or so it seems in the classes conducted by the North Orange County Community College District in Placentia.

The teacher, Pat Barrios points out that classes are crowded and cramped for working space. Sewing machines are limited and so are supplies. But everyone is making the best of the congested quarters.

The Whitten Community Center where one of the classes meets is now partially occupied by the TLC (Transportation-Lunch-Counselling) lunch program and the sewing class is necessarily confined to the space that is left.

Machines are in short supply for the numbers of local residents who would like to take advantage of the sewing instruction.

Supplies are needed also, Mrs. Barrios points out. Things the average person might throw away can be put to good use in the sewing class. Materials, yardage, scraps of all kinds can be used. Patterns, no matter how old or out of style can still be adapted. Thread, old scissors, zippers, buttons, any kind. Leftovers can be used to make toys for youngsters.

Anyone with materials they would like to donate to the sewing class can contact Social Services at 993-8178 or the Whitten Community Center sewing class at 630-9948.

Illegal Fog Lamps Ban

The California Highway Patrol has warned vehicle owners that fog lamps with red lenses which recently have been marketed here are illegal for California use.

Commissioner Glen Craig said "five imported lamps with reddish lenses appeared on the market, apparently because of a change in manufacturing specifications since all companies previously had been offering approved amber fog lamps. We discovered the problem when motorists complained after they were cited for illegal fog lamps."

The five lamp brands are Ariz, Walfrin-La Cal, Quartzray, Yankee Metal Products and Pathfinder. Craig said the manufacturers have "assured us that they will supply retail outlets with replacement lenses for anyone who bought a lamp with a reddish lens."

He said manufacturers also have agreed to call back all existing supplies on retailers shelves and fit them with proper lenses.

California law provides that vehicles may not display any red light to the front. Fog lamps may be either white or amber.

Pair Win Honors

Lester Weiler, district manager of the John Hancock Agency, 501 North Brookhurst St., Anaheim who resides at 19452 Shadow Hill Drive, Yorba Linda, along with Maurice Wolf who services the Yorba Linda area and resides in Fullerton were honored for their outstanding sales achievements at the company's Pacific Coast Regional Honor Club conference.

KATIE'S COLUMN
by Kay Starr

One sure fire method of getting started in the morning lately is to get zapped. The static electricity is so bad around our house that I carry my car keys with me at all times. Polyester material, especially the dark colored fabric, is terrible because all of "Snoopy's" hair just clings.

As I walk along the carpet, my brown capris take on a very shaggy appearance. Static electricity is also very energizing in getting out of the car. It provides an extra boost.

The mother hen in me is showing. My college attending daughter is home, and since she has completed her studies, becoming a December graduate, hopefully she'll be around for a few more days than usual.

She and a school friend are currently planning a trip to Mexico then the eastern coast of our country. My daughter is as enthusiastic about seeing places as I am. With her recent study in photography, she plans to capture it all on film.

I can keep right up with her there, boxes and boxes of slides from our vacation are stacked up on the table.

I couldn't resist the empty corner in the dining area, just right for a small tree. This is a special tree, though, because the only ornaments on it are some that I made with jar lids, scraps of felt and ribbon and pictures.

I cut family photos to fit the jar lids, glued the felt to the back and used the ribbon to make a loop to hold the ornament on the tree. What else? I call the tree "The Family Album".

What more could anyone wish than to have her whole family close by, a good pine aroma, a turkey ready for cooking, a batch of Christmas cards to look over, and a telephone handy to make those last minute calls to share the goodness?

As I have said many times, my cup runs over so much, that it's impossible to keep it within. Here's wishing all of you the very best for the coming new year.

NOT QUITE-Despite the determination shown hereby Mike Humphrey and Klair Creer, at left, the Yorba Linda Lions lost an 0-2 decision to the Brea Cosmos in the finals of the JUSA Division 2 cup playoffs. Some Concerns From Athletes

(The following article is reproduced from the CIF Monthly Bulletin. It was published in the "Commissioner's Corner" which is a regular feature by the Commissioner of Athletics, Thomas E. Byrnes. The Bulletin is circulated among the member schools of the CIF Southern Secton. We feel that the article, which leads off and concludes with remarks by Byrnes, merits readership by the public. The Editor).

Recently the Minnesota Student High School Athletic Association conducted five meetings with high schools with equitable representation from boys and girls in an attempt to ascertain some of the feelings of the youngsters regarding the interscholastic program.

These meetings were conducted without adult supervision or direction with the exception the records of the proceedings developed were by adults. As a result of these meetings, many positive ideas were brought forth by the young people regarding their coaches, parents and other concerns. It is not the purpose however, within this month's "Commisioner's Corner" to point out all the positive things the youngsters brought up, but to reflect upon some of their concerns.

For example, one of the questions asked was "What do students like least about their coaches?" The following comments were made by individual athletes:

A coach that wants to see how much I can sweat.

A coach that thinks his/her sport is supposed to be my whole life.

A coach that expects me to go to "out of season" practice.

A coach that will bend the rules to win.

A coach that will overlook infractions of star players.

A coach that will cheat to win. When you cheat, no one wins.

A coach that has favorites who get special treatment, and when they are out of line, nothing happens.

A coach that cuts players down in front of other students and adults, sometimes right at the game.

A coach that has no dicipline.

A coach that has a trophy for a brain.

A coach that criticizes officials, even when the officials are right.

A coach who expects us as players to be so serious that we can't even smile or laugh in school the day of the game. We even have to be quiet on the bus.

A coach that overlooks smoking or drinking.

Another question asked was:"What do you not like to see in parents?"

Parents who push too hard.

Parents who don't let their child decide what he/she wants to play.

Parents who still wear their letter jackets.

Parents who pick all-star teams.

Parents who argue with officials, even when they know the decision was right.

Parents who constantly hound you when you lose. I know some kids that have ulcers.

Parents who expect me to live up to the reputation of my brother or sister.

Parents who don't want to encourage their sons or daughters to get interested in sports that they didn't play.

Parents who want their kids to work out so much during high school that they miss a lot of the fun.

Another question:"What views do athletes hold about summer programs for specialized training and competition?"

I don't think they are really worth it.

Others can go if they want to. I would rather work or have some time for a vacation.

Don't let my coach have a hold on me in the summertime.

Don't get me wrong! I like my coach, but enough is enough.

I like the opportunity to work with other coaches. They have different ideas from the ones I get the rest of the time.

Some other notable comments were:

Don't drop the alcohol rule. Even though lots of athletes violate the rule, those who want to maintain high standards can tell their friends they can't drink because the rule is there.

It's hard to be a wrestler and slowly starving out on the mat while people eat popcorn during your match.

I wish there wasn't so much conflict between my sports season and my involvement in other school activities. It becomes awkward to tell the choir director or the play director that you have to be gone again.

I wish there were rules which would set the amount of time that I have to practice every day. I was in the pool at 6 a.m. this morning and I'll have to go back tonight and work out again. On Sunday's I'm expected to find an open pool and practice all afternoon. Look at me, I'm ...and there's two months left to the high school season. (And then summer practice starts).

In conclusion, this article is not intended to maintain that youngsters in Minnesota have the same attitudes as in California or that all the comments made herein are necessarily correct. Additionally, I would like to emphasize again that those positive attitudes were not listed here because of the amount of space and the subject of this article. Even with these pre-conditions and limitations however, I think there is merit in reflecting on some of these concerns.

Hawk JVs Miss A Win

by Brian Hilderbrand

An inconsistent El Dorado junior varsity basketball team lost to San Clemente in the consolation finals of the Fountain Valley JV Tournament, 42-45.

Leading by seven, 40-33, with 5:49 to play, ED saw the Tritons' score seven straight points in a little under two minutes, and tie the score at 40-40 with 3:56 left to play.

With the score tied at 42-all, San Clemente took the lead for the first time since the initial period on a pair of free throws by Paul Wade. With :41 seconds remaining, the Tritons held a 44-42 advantage.

Wade put the game away with 14 seconds left to play by sinking one of two charity shots. The toss produced the 45-42 final.

High scorers for the Tritons were Bob Mulligan with 16, followed by Wade, who put in 12 points.

Dave Stipe led the Hawk scorers with 13. Ron Tagney and Reid Poole each added 10 points. John Boyd and Chris Dressel both put in two points, while Kevin Toman had one point.

El Dorado was a miserable 4 for 14 from the free throw line (28.5%), while the Tritons' shot 54 per cent from the line (13 of 24).

The Golden Hawks advanced in the consolation bracket of the tourney by losing to Costa Mesa in the first round, 42-40. A layup by Alan Ting with :06 to play put the Mustangs' out in front for good.

Poole and Tagney shared top scoring honors with 10 points apiece. Brad Shupe and Dressel each put in six, while Chris Burner and Sam McManis both tallied four points.

ED's only win in the tourney came against Villa Park, in a 69-56 routing by the Hawks. This win put El Dorado in the consolation finals with San Clemente.

Top scorers for the Hawks were Tagney, with 16 points, Stipe, 14 and Burner, 10 points, Toman and Poole each put in eight points, while Boyd hit for three. McManis, Shupe and Garry Hughes each compiled two points.

Despite scoring only two points, Sam McManis proved to be an offensive standout with nine assists. McManis also led in the steals department with five.

Ron Tagney proved to be the Hawks top scorer for the three-day event, tallying 36 points. Reid Poole was second-high with 28, and Dave Stipe poured in 27 points as El Dorado outscored their opponents, 151-143.

Along with the varsity, the El Dorado JV's are currently participating in the Santiago Holiday Tournament.

Program Prompts Discussion

A program which has serviced 13 Placentia Trainable Mentally Retarded youngsters and adults as well as some from the cities of Brea and Yorba Linda will apparently be seeking other funding than city budget money.

The summer therapeutic recreation program for a ten week period was budgeted at $2,819 by the city of Placentia. Of this amount $310 was not spent and was recommended for use in an additional program.

Councilwoman Virginia Farmer, stressing that she is not opposed to therapeutic programs, stated that she would "like to see the city look into a sponsoring organization to take over the financing of the therapeutic programs so that it does not become an additional burden on the property owner or see a shift in this to another level of government through grants or whatever."

"I recognize that that is taxpayer money," Mrs. Farmer continued. "However the homeowner is having to bear the brunt of increased services toward groups and it is becoming clear to a great many of us that the homeowner cannot on his property tax, continue to absorb special programs."

"I'm not opposed to special programs," Mrs. Farmer added. "And something as worthy as this is difficult to contest. I'm looking for a way to shift it."

Mayor George De Jesus explained that there are no funds available for this particular item and suggested that organizations be encouraged to contribute to its support. "We need to get some help," he pointed out.

The special recreational program conducted in Placentia, involved 13 local youngsters and adults and for one segment, five non-residents and for a second phase, 15 nonresidents.

Activities were basically bowling, swimming, arts, crafts, games, sports, music, rhythms and sensory motor activities. Also included was a Day Camp format with field trips to the Enchanted Village, a Harbor Cruise, Marineland, beach trips and fishing.

City recreation staff recommended an additional 18-week program at no added cost to the city. Costs would be borne by money raised by the Therapeutic Recreation Booster Club, registration fees and surplus funds. ($310).

The surplus funds was the item that concerned Mrs. Farmer.

The proposed new project would involve ages 5 to 29 with a program, meeting on Saturdays and running from January through June. Costs involve staff, equipment and materials. Participants would pay a registration fee and in some cases a small participation fee.

After the discussion the council unanimously approved the $310 expenditure with Councilman Donald Holt arriving later in the meeting.

Course Gives Grooming Tips

The course outlines may say that Janet Feltenberger deals with hair styles, makeup, and wardrobe in her adult education personal grooming/charm and personal development classes.

But the instructor finds that the biggest contributions she can make in the person's attempts to change herself come in the area of attitude.

Beauty might look only skin deep, but the instructor says that the modifications that help women change themselves begin inside. Mrs. Feltenberger teaches in the North Orange County Community College District adult education program. One course meets on Thursdays from 9 a.m. until 12 noon at the Placentia Library. Her class is called Personal Grooming, Poise, Confidence, and Charm. The cost is a $4 tuition fee.

Mrs. Feltenberger finds that most students come out of the class liking themselves better than they did before even if they don't take advantage of suggestions for changing their appearance.

"Lack of confidence is what most women lack even more than a new hairdo," she observed. She pointed out that what many women gain is the confidence of knowing about some of the things they may not have learned when they were growing up—the hows and whys of selecting the most flattering clothing lines, applying makeup, determining the kind of hairdo that meets lifestyle needs.

Classes Mrs. Feltenberger teaches are not geared just for the needs of women with employment goals, but she finds that the results are much the same.

"The class gives the participants a boost to go on to something else," she observed, noting that the class is often the first place women come when they are ready to begin the transition from home to employment or to resumption of their education.

Her students also include many women who intend to remain full-time homemakers, as well as business women and students from the district's regular college program. "When women know about makeup, hair and other things important to their appearance, they can have the confidence to forget about themselves and enter into life," she noted.

Mrs. Feltenberger works movement training and practice into the course thoughout the term. She also devotes one whole session to pivots and turns on a classroom ramp and to parking lot practice in graceful ways of getting in and out of different styles of cars.

The instructor works on a one-to-one basis with women who want help with clothing selection. A mother of teen-aged and pre-teen children, Mrs. Feltenberger works in shopping tips for the whole family as she conducts workshops on clothing selection, maintenance, and coordination. Students are invited to bring in clothes about which they have questions and they are advised on inexpensive ways to update basic garments or change ones they don't like. Suggestions include adding dimestore jewelry, switching the style or quality of buttons, and modifying unflattering necklines with scarves.

Registration information can be obtained from adult education offices in Anaheim, 200 N. West St., 835-6580; in Cypress, 9200 Valley View, 995-2238; and in Fullerton, 1000 N. Lemon St., 870-4990.

Capital Punishment Law Prediction

Assemblyman Bruce Nestande (R-Orange) predicted "that a capital punishment bill would become law this year." Nestande was re-appointed to the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee which will consider capital punishment legislation.

While Nestande "favors a new capital punishment bill," the Criminal Justice Committee has traditionally been a difficult hurdle for law enforcement legislation.

Nestande, who has often found himself at odds with the Committee's liberal majority, indicated that he felt "a bill would be voted out of Committee, rather than the entire Assembly having to exercise the rarely used option of voting to extract a bill from a committee when committee members refuse to vote a bill out, when favored by a majority of the 80 member Assembly."

Nestande stated that he felt "the 1972 vote by Californians in favor of the death penalty by a ⅔ margin was a valid mandate of public opinion upon which to proceed with new capital punishment legislation."

Nestande gave some insight into how the Committee will approach this issue based upon conversations with the new Chairman, Assemblyman Ken Maddy (R-Fresno). Nestande noted "that several capital punishment bills were being drafted, including his own capital punishment bill."

He pointed out that as a first step, there would be "several day-long hearings at which time constitutional experts would articulate the recent State and U.S. Supreme Court decisions regarding the death penalty. That information will then be utilized in drafting a bill which will meet present constitutional tests."

Once drafted, Nestande continued, "the struggle to secure sufficient votes for passage will commence." Nestande was optimistic the votes would be obtained, and stressed "the importance of painstakingly developing a bill without technical flaws which a future court could use to overrule new drafted capital punishment legislation."

Edna Kraemer Dunlap, Civic Leader, Dies

Edna Kraemer Dunlap, a long time resident of the city of Placentia, died Wednesday, December 22, at St. Jude Hospital, Fullerton, after an extended illness. Her age was not disclosed.

Rosary and the mass of Christian burial were held Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Placentia with interment at Anaheim Cemetery.

Mrs. Dunlap is survived by her husband Edward H. Dunlap of the Placentia home; a daughter Rosemary K. Lokey, Pacific Palisades; a sister Alice Phillips, Anaheim; nephew William J. Phillips, Fullerton; and a grandson, Michael Waters of Seattle.

Mrs. Dunlap was active in civic works and organizations in this area. She was the founder and organizer of the first outdoor amphitheater in Anaheim, past president and life member of the Anaheim Ebell Club.

She attended the University of Southern California and was a member of the social sorority Pi Beta Phi at the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

She also founded the Anaheim Assistance League in 1940 and cofounded other assistance leagues in Orange County.

Mrs. Dunlap was well known as an artist, painter, author, and book reviewer and at one time wrote a column titled "Along Today's Path."

She actively participated in the founding of California State College in Fullerton, now a state university. She also was a life member of the Mary and Joseph League.

Funeral services were held under the direction of Backs-Kaulbars Mortuary in Anaheim.

Heads Staff at Hospital

Michael W. Abdalla, M.D., an orthopedic surgeon, has been elected president of the more than 500 member St. Joseph Hospital Medical and Dental Staff for 1977.

A graduate of the University of Vermont College of Medicine, Dr. Abdalla completed this internship of Denver General Hospital, Denver, Colorado, and an orthopedic residency at the University of Colorado Medical Center. He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery. His offices are in Orange.

Other new St. Joseph Medical Staff officers include: David A. Johnson, M.D., vice president; Gerald Zatlin, M.D., secretary/treasurer; and Lawrence S. Barnett, M.D., and Fred W. Jansen, M.D., members-at-large. Robert E. Ball, M.D., is the past president.

Wagner Keeps Busy During December

The Charles Wagner Elementary School's Santa's Workshop was a huge success the PTA reports. "The children really enjoyed buying gifts at school."

Another event was dress up day where everyone wore a fancy hat.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades went to Disneyland and visited the musical productions.

Christmas programs were presented for the parents by all the grades and the Wagner Chorus.

A Christmas tree was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Casis of El Camino Nursery in Orange to decorate the festivities. It was later planted on the grounds at Wagner.

Number One Toy? Ask Santa!

When it comes to Christmas, children all over the country prove they've been watching a lot of TV—especially the toy commercials.

A nationwide poll of 75 Sears Santas shows that from Wilmington, Del. to Honolulu, Hawaii, the first words out of little mouths this season are "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Bionic Woman."

The poll, which accounts for more than 70,000 youngsters, shows little girls still opting for dolls. Despite all the talk about liberation, the well-rounded "Barbie" doll still enjoys high popularity after 18 years, but the "Bionic Woman" has edged her out of the Number One spot. Close behind is "Baby Thataway," who crawls, and "Baby Tenderlove," who either sneezes or blows a party horn, depending on the model you choose.

As for the boys, the "Six Million Dollar Man" and a wild and rather grotesque character called "Stretch Armstrong" top the most-wanted list, followed by bicycles and Evel Knievel toys.

Some toys have no sex boundaries, as witnessed by West Coast and Southern Santas who've had male requests for "Fonzie" dolls. Boys and girls both are asking for record players, "Big Wheels" and "Green Machines." But no girl matched the request from one small Casanova in Schaumburg, Ill., who asked the man in the red suit for "Charlie's Angel's."

There were other unusual requests. A child from Norristown, Pa., asked for "beans and eggs." Another in Amarillo, Tex., requested a "doghouse for Daddy," and a tyke in Miami wanted a snowball under the tree. Santa also got hit with pleas for live donkeys, snakes and an elephant for Mom. He also was asked for "a mommy or daddy" or "happiness for my parents."

And then there was the request from the young football fan in Canoga Park, Calif., who asked Santa for "USC to beat Michigan." We'll know whether that Christmas wish comes true New Year's Day.

T'Masters

On December the 21st the members of the Yorba Linda-Placentia Toastmasters Club #3425 and their ladies enjoyed the club's Christmas party at the home of Mo & Mary Graham. After a pleasant social hour everybody sat down for a catered dinner.

There was a short table topics session in which some of the ladies participated. Roy Fenstermaker, governor Area D-1, installed the following officers for the next six month term: John Meursinge, president; Keith Grimes, educational vice president; Ken Silver, administrative vice president; Paul McCutcheon, treasurer; Al Maderas, secretary; and Paul Koo, general host.

Mike Lackner was the acting Santa Claus distributing the Christmas gifts. Guests are always welcome. Men and women interested in developing their speaking abilities can call 528-7641.

Little Miss, Teen Queen Pageants

Society

The Little Miss California Talent Contest and the Miss California Teen Queen Pageant are coming up.

The Little Miss Talent Contest is designed for girls ages 5 through 12. The girls are judged in the performing arts in the categories of dance, vocal, instrumental, baton, acrobatics, and variety.

The Miss Teen Queen Pageant is designed for girls ages 13 through 17. These girls are judged on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, contributions to mankind, poise, personality, and appearance.

The State Finals pageants are a preliminary to the National Finals pageants held in August. Each state winner from both the Little Miss Talent Contest and Miss Teen Queen Pageant, from states all across the country, will be given an all-expenses paid trip to the National Pageant.

It is here that the Little Miss Nationwide Talent and Miss Teen Queen USA, as well as five runners-up for each are chosen. In addition, awards are given in the areas of leadership, citizenship, congeniality, personality, stage presence, and a special essay award in the Teen Queen category. Scholarships are given at both the state and national level.

Applications may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the National Certification Headquarters, 11865 Main Street, Roscoe, Illinois 61073. Please indicate which program you are interested in.

PTA Busy In 1928

BY CLAIREE TYNES

[Mrs. Tynes continues her history of the Placentia Unified School District].

1928-The Bradford School PTA was again formed on Jan. 6, 1928, by Mrs. G.R. Geer, County organizer, assisted by Mrs. J.V. Kelsey, county president. Mrs. Leon T. Gillilan (for many years supervisor of Food Services for Placentia Schools) was elected president by the thirty five persons becoming members at that first meeting. Dues were fifty cents.

Succeeding presidents were: 1929-30 Mrs. Leon T. Gillilan; 1930-31 Mrs. Lewis Edwardson; 1931-32 Mrs. P. G. Odom; 1932-33 Mrs. Oscar Carlson; 1933-34 Mrs. R. W. McCool; 1934-35 Mrs. Frank Hill; 1935-36 Mrs. V.L. Adams; 1936-37 Mrs. E. W. Schade; 1937-38 Mrs. W.A. Kempin; 1938-39 Mrs. George B. Muir; 1939-40 Mrs. H. H. Schwoob and 1940-41 Mrs. Carson Roberts.

1933-July 8 Placentia Union School District petitioned the state to withdraw from Fullerton Union High School District in which they had been since its formation. On July 31 a vote was taken and the citizens approved 587 to 333 to establish Valencia High School District.

Because Placentia area was very wealthy from oil and citrus (some times known as "the little rich town") the taxes they had been paying to Fullerton were ample to build their own high school.

During the building stage high school classes were held at Bradford Elementary. The first baccalaureate; June 10 and commencement, June 12 took place in 1934 for a class of one; Roy Tillery. State Superintendent, Vierling Kersey delivered the address for the occasion.

1934-Mrs. Lewis Edwardson and John B. Crossley, principal, organized the Parent Teacher Association of the Valencia High School on September 26, 1934. Their first meeting was held on October 11, 1934, and there was an increase of fifty five charter members to the twenty-six who signed up at the first organizational meeting, bringing the total members to eighty one. By June 1, 1936, there were ninety-one members.

Presidents were: 1935-36 Mrs. Lewis Edwardson; 1936-37 Mrs. Isaac Mayfield; 1937-38 Mrs. E. A. Eisenacher; 1938-39 Roy Hale; 1939-40 Roy Hale and 1940-41 Frank Rospaw.

The Valencia High School PTA has now one hundred and three members. Highlights of 1939-40 PTA activities were a "Back to School" night, a panel discussion on "Youth and Democracy," an annual Christmas program, Founders Day Observance, and "Mothers Night." The theme for the year was "Democracy—the way of Life."

1935-In the fall the new Valencia High School, currently the Math and Business Building, became the home of "The Tigers." Fourteen graduated June, 1935.

715 Club Earn Awards

Cub Scout Pack 715 held it's monthly meeting in October at Kraemer Junior High School in Placentia. Halloween party was the theme as a "Spook Tour" by Cubmaster Terry Syndergaard got every one in the mood for a "string race" and apple bobbing.

Before the festivities the flag ceremony was led by Den 4, Connie White, Den Leader, and a skit was performed by Den 5, Vicky Buck, Den Leader. Awards were presented to those Cubs who earned them; all the children in costume were given Participation Ribbons; and winners were drawn for the cake raffle. Refreshments were provided by the parents of Den 4.

Hill of Hope Ball

The City of God, Saint Joseph's Hill of Hope, will present the fifth annual "Treasury of Jewels" Charity Ball at the Disneyland Grand Ballroom, on New Year's Eve.

According to Mrs. Mark Owen, chairman of the event, a gala party has been planned with many fun-filled surprises. The evening will begin with a reception at 7:30 p.m. followed by dinner, entertainment, and dancing to the sophisticated music of Les Brown and His Band of Renown. Highlighting the evening's festivities will be the drawing of a trip for two, to Hawaii.

All proceeds will benefit the City of God, Saint Joseph's Hill of Hope, a non-profit charitable corporation, registered with the State of California, currently in the process of building a Biblical City on 440 acres of land in Brea.

The organization is staffed entirely by highly experienced volunteers from all professions and depends solely upon donations and fund-raising projects for its operation.

For information please call (714) 528-6962.

Nursery service and activities for children will be available, the church reports.

Classes Begin At Gomez Center

Two adult education classes are scheduled to begin at the L. Jack Gomez Community Center, 1701 Atwood Avenue, Placentia, during the first week of January.

A beginning oil painting class will be offered on Mondays starting January 3, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Also, the very popular bilingual "Woman of Today" class taught by Cindy Coad will be held every Thursday beginning January 6, from 9 to 11 a.m.

Both classes are provided through the Adult Education Division of the North Orange County Community College District. Further information may be obtaininformation may be obtained by calling the College District at 870-4990 or by calling the Placentia Office of Social Services at 993-8178.

Exciting Film Shown

Messiah Lutheran Church will present the film, "CORRIE: Behind the Scenes With The Hiding Place," on Sunday, January 2, at 9:35 a.m. in the church sanctuary.

Corrie ten Boom will narrate, telling her thoughts as she watched her life unfold in the movie, "The Hiding Place."

This "behind the scenes" film will be shown during the Sunday School hour, between the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services. Messiah Lutheran, at 4861 Liverpool, off Yorba Linda Blvd., invites you to come worship and enjoy this interesting film.

Moravian Lovefeast

A New Year's Eve "lovefeast fellowship" service will be held at Moravian Community Church, 5401 Fairmont, Yorba Linda.

The service will be from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on December 31. It is described as a "very special service of quiet meditation, prayer and fellowship with the Pastor as we look back and ahead in light of God's will."

The service will include a slide presentation of "1975 for our Congregation"; prayer and sharing time; "Drawing of Texts" by each individual and an informal Lovefeast as a "family of families" with participants sharing favorite holiday snacks which they are requested to bring.

Center Starts Outreach Service

A Placentia Outreach service is being inaugurated from Placentia's Family Guidance Center of the North Orange County Child Guidance Center.

The new resource for adolescents is being coordinated by therapist Art Schut, it was reported.

The program utilizes contact workers, supervised by the Center, to identify and counsel troubled but difficult to reach young people.

The availability of the program has been communicated to many professionals working with adolescents, the Center reports.

RD Friends Eve Party

"Highlights of 1976" is the theme for the coming New Year's Eve Party at Rose Drive Friends Church. The adults will gather for great food, favorite games and musical specials.

Meanwhile, the high school department will take the bus on an "Around the Town" excursion. Miniature golf, trampolining, bowling and a trip to see the Rose Parade are planned for the all-night activity.

The Jr. High department stays free of a group activity so they can babysit for others involved in church activities.

The adult social begins at 7:30 p.m. at the church. A cost of $4 per person covers the expenses for a great dinner. The festivities will wind up about 1 a.m.

Hadassah Plans For January

Masada Chapter of Hadassah will meet Wednesday, January 5 at 7:45 p.m. for the first general meeting of the New Year.

The meeting will be held at the Eastland Savings and Loan, Brookhurst and Ball Road in Anaheim, Mrs. Ben Taul of Placentia reports.

A ride to Skirball Museum to see a special photographic exhibit of Jerusalem will take place on Wednesday, January 12. Members will meet at Temple Beth Emet in Anaheim at 9 a.m. Those wishing reservations can call Mrs. Taul, the group states.

School-Library Races

She is the wife of the superintendent of schools of PUSD, John O. Tynes and the mother of five children.

Mrs. Tynes said that she decided to enter the contest since her youngest son is now in college and she has more time to devote to civic service. She has lived in Placentia since 1944.

Also filing papers for the library race is John Fahy, Placentia, a retired navy commander. Those contemplating the move include Prager, Edwin W. Juel, a local real estate broker and Dick Acton a financial management administrator at Rockwell International.

Filing will continue for the school board through Thursday, December 30 and for the Library Board through Monday, January 3. Papers are available at the Registrar's Office, 1300 South Grand Avenue, Santa Ana.

William Cook, who has filed for the school board, is married to Arlene Cook, an employee in the personnel department of Placentia City Hall.

The couple has two youngsters, Linda, 16, a student at El Dorado High School and Steven, 13, who attends Tuffree. Cook works for the Dia-log Company of Santa Fe Springs, an oil well service business.

The candidate says that he decided to run for the school board because he feels that a balanced board is desirable to keep an objective approach to educational problems.

"The board should not become overweighted with teaching types" Cook explained. Other facets of industry can bring a more objective look at the field of education than can those who are involved in it, he outlined.

Cook has a BS degree in mechanical engineering from Carneige-Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa.

He is also interested in keeping the school budget down and objectively looking at the school program to be sure that it is good sound education with emphasis on the basics.

Another prospective candidate who is interested in a basic, fundamental school approach is Stanley Interrante, a deputy sheriff. His daughter Alycia attends San Jose Academy in Orange.

Interrante sees problem areas in contemporary education and the public school system. He is also interested in the amount of his tax money that goes into the schools and how it is spent.

"First there is order," Interrante explains, "and that permits freedom and liberty."

The deputy sheriff says he is a member of the Roman Catholic Church and that he has done some religious teaching. He is 34 years of age, has a two-year degree in police science from Fullerton College and a bachelor's in political science and masters in public administration from California State University at Fullerton.

He also attended St. John's University in Jamaica, New York where he completed two years in liberal arts in pretheology.

Interrante said also he has recently been made Orange County regional director of the California Pro Life Council, a nondenominational citizens group fighting abortion.

Mrs. Clairee Tynes, who is seeking one of the library seats, is a native of Los Angeles and has lived in Placentia 32 years. She is an elder in the Presbyterian Church, a member of the Friends of the Library and holds a life membership in the Parent-Teachers Association.

Her family consists of Bud, who is married and lives in Canada; daughters Carol Sue Richel and Mary Dean Schinzel, who live in Arizona; Bill, who attends Cal State Fullerton and Jake, a student at Fullerton College.

Edwin Juel, who has taken out papers for a library seat, has lived in the city over 8 years and is in business for himself in real estate.

He is married, has three daughters and has a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the Milwaukee School of Engineering.

Dick Acton, another prospective library board candidate, is 40 years of age, has five youngsters "all of whom use the library" and is a native of Anaheim. He and his family have lived in Placentia for seven years.

Acton, who has been active in various political campaigns as a campaign manager and candidate, is a financial management administrator at Autonetics.

He has an AA degree in business administration from Fullerton College and is working on a masters at La Verne College. His youngsters are Charles, Daniel, Nat, Liz, Amy and Kathy. Mrs. Acton is the director of religious education at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Placentia.

Acton has been at Rockwell for 21 years and is active in Jaycees, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, as a Den Mother and a Gray-Y Leader.

One of his concerns in planning to run for the board is tax dollars and how they are spent, he states.

City Seeks Traffic Inventory

The city of Placentia will seek a 100 per cent funded grant of $21,350 from the state of California to conduct an inventory and evaluation of all traffic control devices in the city.

This would include pavement markings, no parking signs and stop signs, as an example.

The money supplied by the state would provide a complete inventory and a continuing maintenance system "at virtually no cost to the city and with a minimum of city staff involvement", a report from Ben Minamide, Director of Public Works for the city outlined.

The city has 91 miles of dedicated public streets.

Taller Sign Denied

Request for a 28-foot high, 72 square foot sign at the corner of Bradford Avenue and Center Street was denied by members of the Placentia Planning Commission last week.

Application was made by Les Crew of Cypress for a tire and auto shop he is purchasing at 144 South Bradford.

Crew stated that in order to make the business successful he believed it was important that the sign be visible from the intersection of Bradford and Chapman Avenues, a block away.

Planning Commissioners did not agree however, and denied the request on a 5 to 1 vote with Commissioner William Beggerly in dissension.

Permitted by code would be a sign with a 15-foot height.

Expressing disagreement with the applicant, Commissioner Richard Cuevas stated that he thought allowing such a tall sign would be "to take a step backwards." Commissioner Mark Hepp added: "I moved from an area to get away from that type of thing."

The rejection can be appealed to the Placentia City Council.

Becca Godinez Sings In Opera

"The Telephone," Gian-Carlo Menotti's one-act opera, will highlight a Vocal Recital on Sunday, Jan. 9 of Fullerton College Advanced Voice Classes in the Recital Hall on campus.

Under the direction of Music Department instructor Sara McFerrin, the 3:30 p.m. free, open-to-the-public offering will consist of duets, trios and quartets.

"The Telephone" is a musical story of a monstrosity of an instrument that confronts Mike Gutowski of Fullerton, as Mike, who is trying to propose to Lucy, sung by Becca Godinez of Placentia. A lengthy girl-to-girl conversation follows, and, in disgust, Mike finally has to resort to the telephone to pop the question. Does Lucy accept? The answer awaits you Jan. 9.

COST GOES UP

Foster care costs range from $3,000 to $5,000 a year, and annual institutional costs begin at $8,000 and soar to over $50,000.

Bradford House

points of view at that time also."

Councilman Donald Holt, who had worked to save the house before he was elected to the council and conducted part of his political campaign inside the vintage home built in 1904, surprisingly seconded the motion.

Councilman Jack Gomez quickly asked for a roll call vote and then apparently changed his mind. The tally was a unanimous voice vote.

The city council action was diametrically opposed to recommendations made by the Blue Ribbon Committee it had appointed a short time ago. The committee had found the Bradford family home to be an asset with a replacement value between $240,000 and $300,000.

Committee recommendations to the council were that the house not be demolished and not be sold.

Recommendation was made further that the house and the park area around it be designated an Historical Point of Interest.

Other recommendations were aimed toward making the house economically self sufficient without the expenditure of taxpayer money. However, members of the city council have taken no further action than to ask for a legal opinion from City Attorney Charles Post III as to whether park in lieu fees could be used for the maintenance of the home.

Post's answer was no. The city attorney stated, however, that park in lieu fees could be used for improvements on the home, but not maintenance. "And the improvements are a grey area."

He added that the measure on the ballot in April, 1976, was an advisory vote to the council and not mandatory. The ballot item querying whether tax payer money should be spent for the maintenance and upkeep of the Bradford House as an historical monument, lost by 220 votes.

Larry Leaman, recreation program manager for Orange County reacted in surprise when he heard the news that the house would either be sold or torn down.

"I wasn't expecting that," he replied.

Leaman said that no official action has been taken on the purchase of the George Key Ranch in Placentia, which also contains a heritage home, but that the county is still interested in buying it.

Leaman said also that the decision to reject the Bradford Home was coming at a time when one federal fund had just been tripled to save structures such as the vintage house.

Proposition No. 2, passed in the November 2 election, the Nejedly-Hart State, Urban and Coastal Park Bond Act of 1976, also will put money into every city in Orange County, Leaman explained.

This could conceivably result in Placentia receiving $89,000 for park acquisition, development, recreation or historical uses, Leaman outlined. "But don't hold me to that figure. There is no official list as yet."

Approval of projects is required.

Leaman said he also anticipates that county supervisors will order a county-wide inventory of historical sites in 1977. Any such sites that have historical impact of county significance may in that case be eligible for county assistance.

The state also is accepting applications until February 1, 1977 for federal historic preservation grants for the fiscal year 1977-78.

These would be matching grants-in-aid to restore historic places "or preserve them from damage and destruction. The matching funds may be used for acquisition, restoration, or rehabilitation."

ALBERT SUMNER BRADFORD

More than $500,000 is expected to be available for grants to local agencies in California in 1977-78.

Mrs. Sylvia Hoskins, president of the Placentia Founders Society, whose home on Palm Circle faces the Bradford House, emphasized that "we didn't vote to tear the house down. It was just not to spend tax dollars."

The Bradford Home is located on old Palm Drive between Kraemer Boulevard and Bradford Avenue.

Yorba Linda and Placentia are both represented on the Los Angeles Dodgers roster for the 1977 season.

"Comeback Player of the Year" and Hutch Award winner Tommy John is the Yorba Linda resident. Knuckleball relief ace Charlie Hough resides in Placentia.

Living in nearby Fullerton is veteran hurler Burt Hooten.

ARTHUR ASHE

Tennis Star Arthur Ashe, has been named National Sports Chairman for the 1977 Easter Seal campaign.

Workman Replaced

A replacement is being sought for head football coach of Valencia High School, it was indicated this week, with the announcement that Fred Workman, who has held the position for three years will spend full time as a teacher.

Bob Jones, principal of Valencia said that search for a coach is beginning immediately and will be completed by April. Jones reported a complete reorganization of sports at the school with a different philosophy and pattern.

Workman who came to the school district with outstanding credentials and win records has had difficulty getting the Valencia teams into the win columns. The record for the past three years has been 1-25-1 with the sole win over San Dimas early this season.

The high school is the smallest in the Placentia Unified School District and for that reason has had recruiting problems, it was indicated.
